LOTTERY money being diverted into funding the London 2012 Olympic Games is stifling opportunities for a permanent home for the performing arts, council officials have warned.

In the week a new campaign was launched to push for a theatre in the town, council chiefs said although a venue is in long-term plans, hopes of securing imminent funding are going nowhere fast.

Christopher Dixon, arts projects co-ordinator for Ashford council said: "At the moment the general climate for funding the arts is difficult because so much lottery money is being redirected to the Olympics

"We are addressing the problem. We are always looking for opportunities for places where people can perform."

Jack Cowen is leading a new campaign to try and get a theatre space specifically for the town and has launched a website - www.ashfordtheatreproject.co.uk - to encourage a groundswell of support through an online petition.

Revealing his plans to Yourashford, he said: "I know there have been campaigns before that have failed but it's not from lack of support from the people who rush around and get signatures but from the point of view of getting funding. But if you don't try you don't get."

Mr Cowan, who has held informal talks with the council, said: "We had an interesting discussion. I know they do have plans for an arena. But that is way in the future. I was thinking in

Broadband speeds set for take-off

■ BY CHRIS JAMES

A BROADBAND pilot scheme delivering some of the fastest download speeds in the entire country is to be extended.

Selected customers in the town were able to log-on to Virgin Media's trial run last year – and it has now been expanded to all customers using the service.

Virgin Media's service has been promoted heavily recently with a £20 million advertising campaign featuring Hollywood star Uma Thurman.

Customers can now access speeds of a sizzling 50Mb – up to 10 times faster than many broadband connections.

It means music MP3 files can be downloaded in seconds, while films will take minutes to download rather than hours.

But it doesn't come cheap and customers will have to pay £47 a month for the high-speed web service.

The trial period is being extended as of October 1 – although Virgin sources suggest there is no guarantee it will extend beyond the pilot which concludes on December 31.

It is also being extended to customers in Dover and Folkestone. Those signing up will all receive a new modem capable of handling the pace.

The current top speed being offering by Virgin is 20Mb – while most broadband customers get a maximum speed of 8Mb. Up-load speeds for the new service are also on the rise – up to 1.5Mb.

However, Virgin Media were keeping cagey about the service when we contacted them.

Despite websites inviting customers to take part in the 'phase two' trial period, a spokesman refused to elaborate on the service.

She told us: "There is a trial period

STAR TURN: Uma Thurman is the face of £20m Virgin Media ad campaign going on in Ashford, Dover and Folkestone, but at the moment we are just seeing what the response is like."

It is thought if the trial period proves a success, it will be rolled out across the country.

The advent of broadband has revolutionised the internet – sending the number of those accessing the web soaring as multimedia content such as video and music suddenly became downloadable at far quicker speeds than dial-up modems or ISDN lines were ever capable of.

All of which will be good news for our new web service – www.yourkenttv.co.uk which is now fully launched.

It allows you and your friends to upload your video clips on anything and everything to be shared with users across the county.

Simply log on to the site today to access the free service.

yourashford NEWS IN BRIEF

Family's sad farewell to murdered Ashely

THE funeral of murdered Ashley Dighton took place at St Mary's Church in Kennington on Monday.

The body of the 19-year-old from Nine Acres was found near Sainsbury's supermarket in Simone Weil Avenue, in July – a month after he went missing. He was only identified after DNA tests earlier this month.

Police are still appealing for help in tracing the killer after emotional appeals from his family.

Sawdust fire put out on industrial estate

FIREFIGHTERS battled for more than an hour to put out a fire in a silo packed full of sawdust at a Kingsnorth industrial estate on Monday.

The blaze, in Wotton Road, took place in a six metre high tower.

Also on Monday a man was taken to hospital by air ambulance after a crash between two cars and a flat-bed truck on Benenden Road in Biddenden.

Knife death teacher's ex detained by police

A MAN is still being held in connection with the murder of language teacher Louise Evans, from Hothfield, in the car park of East Sutton Open Prison near Maidstone.

Keith Prest, 48, the victim's former partner, was arrested on September 15. He has been detained under the Mental Health Act. Miss Evans was stabbed to death on September 12.

Anyone with any information can contact police on 01622 690690.

Thieves target garden and shed equipment

POLICE are warning residents to be extra vigilant after a spate of thefts from garden sheds and garages.

Last Thursday more than £2,000 of golfing and fishing equipment was stolen from a shed in Penn Hill, Stanhope.

Three days later a £1,500 mower in Watery Lane, Westwell, went missing.

Police have asked anyone who saw anything suspicious in the days leading up to the thefts to call 01303 289180.

Summer washout puts cinema in black

Blockbusters help profits soar to £5.1m

■ BY ED HILL

THE SUMMER washout and a string of top blockbuster movies has sent cinema audiences soaring at Cineworld.

The multi-screen complex on the Eureka Leisure Park helped swell audiences for the cinema chain as film fans looked for entertainment under cover as the rain clouds gathered.

Nationwide, the cinema chain – which has 43 outlets – saw audiences boom by eight per cent, delivering a £5.1 million profit.

Last year, a hot summer and the FIFA World Cup saw it lose more than £6m.

And it is British films such as Hot Fuzz and Mr Bean's Holiday which helped them go into the black.

There has also been a string of Hollywood blockbuster movies including Spiderman 3, Pirates of the Caribbean and the latest instalment of Harry Potter to help increase cinema ticket sales.

Luke Roberts, marketing manager for

BLOCKBUSTER: Spiderman 3 was among many big films which helped to boost cinema audiences in Ashford Cineworld, said: "It has been a combination of things this year.

"The weather has helped but we also had a great range of films over the summer.

"Even the smaller films like Hairspray have performed surprisingly well this year.

"Weather does play a factor in attendances and of course if there is something like the World Cup on that can have a big impact. But if you have good films you can still get people through the doors."

From Friday movie addicts will also be able to buy in to Cineworld's unlimited card.

The £10.99-a-month pass allows users unlimited access to movies at the venue and has proved a hit at other Cineworld outlets.

Mr Roberts said: "We like to think it promotes the more unusual films because people can go and see the big blockbusters, but they can also take a chance on some of the foreign films and they have nothing to lose."

Among those movies away from the blockbusters, the company has also showcased a host of Bollywood films.

Mr Roberts added: "We are the leading Bollywood exhibitor in the country. Some of our cinemas are even getting bigger audiences for Indian films than in Mumbai."

lowlier terms than that, something like a drill hall we could use to fulfil a number of roles such as amateur dramatics.

"Public money for these things is difficult but I am not asking for the earth. We could run it as a voluntary effort."

Ashford council's Christopher Dixon said: "St Mary's Church in the town centre has applied to the lottery to become a dual worship and arts space. There are already a lot of events put on there. There will also be a new 100-seat amphitheatre at the Singleton Environmental Centre which is due to open next year.

"The next big thing will be when the Learning Campus is built. We expect that project will include a space specifically for the performing arts.

"I welcome input from local art and drama groups. Hopefully we can work together to create something that will benefit everyone."

CONFUSED by dot coms and worried about the world wide web? Then a course at Towers School in Kennington should allow you to dispel your fears and jump on to the information superhighway.

Along with a number of venues across the county, the school is playing host on October 12 to Get Online Day – a course designed to demystify the internet and open up its advantages to all.

It comes hot on the heels of a survey which revealed 5,000 people in Ashford are afraid to use the internet.

Liz White, manager of the Learndirect centre at the school, said: "I know many of us are used to using computers these days but there are people who are afraid of them. We want to give people the chance to have a play and show them how to set up their own web address."

And once you're surfing, make sure you visit our new broadband channel – www.yourkenttv.co.uk. The site is now fully up and running allowing you to upload your own clips.

Six go to Russia to learn language in Olympic city

SIX YOUNGSTERS are set for the school trip of a life-time after being selected for a two-week jaunt to Russia.

The pupils from the North School in Essella Road, are making the trip next month in a bid to improve their language skills.

The students have been taking part in Russian enrichment lessons at the school run by their teacher Sarah Larigo.

Organised and funded by the British Council, the trip forms part of its mission to build stronger ties with schools around the world.

The school won the chance to be involved with the trip when it made a bid to the council and is the only one in Kent to have been selected to take part.

The students will be going to Sochi in southern Russia on the borders of the Black Sea. The city has hit the headlines recently after the International Olympic Committee selected it to host the 2014 Winter Olympic Games – the first time Russia has hosted the event.

■ BY NICK AMES

While the children are there they will be given intensive Russian lessons and take part in a cultural programme seeing the sights of the area.

They will also work with Russian students to present a joint concert at the end of their visit.

Ms Larigo said: "The kids are really excited.

"They can't stop talking about it for some of them this will be their first trip to another country. We are hoping to establish a permanent link with a school in Russia."

Fish are green around the gills

ANGLERS are being warned to take extra steps to prevent a spread of a disease which affects Koi and Common carp after it was detected at a fishery close to the Eureka Leisure Park.

Koi Herpes Virus (KHV) is a fungal disease that mainly affects the gills of the fish and was detected at the Eureka Fishery by Defra scientists after deaths of fish were reported at the lake.

Tyler Clarkson who runs the fishery said: "The lake is still open. It doesn't actually affect the business in terms of anglers coming to the lake to fish it just means no fish can be taken away from the site."

"I will be able to re-stock as I normally would each year."

The disease is mostly commonly spread by careless anglers not fully drying their tackle after they have fished at another lake.

Police begin search for men

TWO men have been reported missing by police in Ashford.

He is described as white, with a medium build 5ft 10in tall, with a tanned complexion. He has shaved mousey brown hair and scars over both eyebrows.

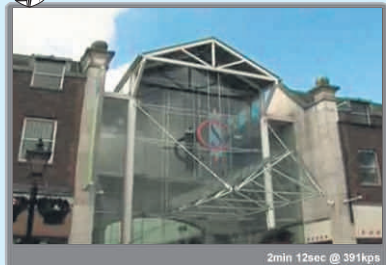

The other is Jon Rogers, 32, from Newton Green. He was last seen on September 9. He was wearing a red baggy sweater, blue baggy jeans and white trainers.

Folk will flock from around the world

THE TENTERDEN Folk Festival is celebrating its fifteenth year and organisers hope this will be the best year so far for the event.

The three-day celebration has grown from humble beginnings to an event that now attracts performers and audiences from all around the world.

Festival director Alan Castle said: "We could not have imagined at the beginning what it would turn into."

"It started as a one-off performance to commemorate the railway coming to Ashford. We couldn't find a suitable venue in the town so we used the leisure centre in Tenterden."

"Since then it has just grown and grown."

At this year's festival there will be nearly 60 events including a barn dance, concerts and traditional dancing in locations all around the town.

The event attracts performers from around the world. Mr Castle said: "Our main artistic aim is to promote traditional English folk music and dance but we feel we can't that without showing how other cultures music compares with our own."

■ BY ED HILL

"This year we've got performers from the Gambia, Latin America and the US."

Mr Castle says he believes folk music is currently enjoying something of a revival as a new generation of performers start to discover its appeal.

Colourful

He said: "There are so many more festivals now. We've got the second generation of folk performers whose parents were part of the revival in the sixties."

"They are bringing new energy to the music. I don't believe this music should be preserved in a museum."

As well as the official events there will be unplanned performances springing up around the town.

Mr Castle said: "Some things just happen there and then. We have nothing to do with them. People just sit in a pub and start singing and that is what we like to see; it is an event that people can participate in."

Dancers also play an important part in the festival activities. There will be hundreds of Morris dancers from groups with colourful names such as the Gong Scourers and Loose Women.

Also attending will be a group from Slovakia and traditional Scottish and Irish dancers.

Mr Castle said: "The people of Tenterden are extremely supportive of the event. We get support from many local organisations."

"It helps to put Tenterden on the map as we are estimating we will get between two and three thousand people over the weekend."

BLINK AND IT WAS GONE

EUROSTAR set a new world record time for a Brussels to London journey as a train hit 186 mph as it roared through Ashford.

Journey time to the new terminal at St Pancras, London, was just one hour 43 minutes 59 seconds for the 232 mile trip from the Midi Station in the Belgian capital.

When regular services are bought in average trips will take a little longer - one hour 51 minutes.

Seth Williams who works for Eurostar was on board the high speed train. He said: "It was great to be able to take part in such a historic journey."

"It was a thrilling ride and a very smooth one."

"There was great excitement on board."

The trains hit 186 mph shortly after leaving the stations in Britain and Europe.

They then slow down to just over 100mph for the trip through the Channel Tunnel before accelerating to maximum speed shortly after exiting.

The 68-mile UK high-speed link will soon be used by all Eurostar services.

OVERHAUL: Visitors to new display will be able to see how Elwick Square and other parts of Ashford will look

Town plans on show at exhibition

A MARQUEE in the lower High Street will house a special exhibition revealing the changes to the whole of the town centre this week.

On Friday and Saturday, visitors will be able to see a model of how the proposed changes will roll-out across the town, as well as the plans for the alterations to Bank Street and Elwick Road.

Staged by Kent County Council, it forms part of efforts to keep the public informed of the overhaul of Ashford.

Jamie Watson, KCC project implementation manager, said: "We feel that generally people don't have enough information. We have plans in the Gateway Centre in Park Mall and on our website, so this is just another way of keeping people aware of the changes.

"We have had exhibitions before and found the lower High Street location has been the best so far because people tend to pop in as they walk by."

Defending some of the criticism levelled at the changes, Mr Watson said: "I know there has been a mixed response but people tend to concentrate on the negative issues.

"Things like the new puffin crossings have caused a few problems but we are still in the middle of the construction period. These are the details that people are picking up on.

■ BY ED HILL

"I think people expected everything to be perfect from July 1, but there is still an awful lot to do."

The rest of the works will take place in three major areas – Bank Street, Elwick Road and Victoria Road and the project is expected to be completed by July next year.

In order to carry out the works on Elwick Road parts of it will revert to being one-way, although traffic will still be able to turn left at Beaver Road and get access to the centre of the town through Church Road. The roads will then finally be changed back to a permanent two-way system.

The public can also expect disruption when the bridges in Newton Road are raised to accommodate the new Smartlink bus services.

The exhibition will also include representatives from Ashford council who will be displaying some of Ashford Future's development plans.

BOB Geldof has launched Kent TV – the UK's first county council-funded, on demand broadband television channel.

The Live Aid and Live8 hero's company Ten Alps is behind the 24/7 online service. The site can also be accessed via our website – www.yourkenttv.co.uk.

Sir Bob said: "It's pretty cool – it's very experimental and potentially very interesting."

Geldof is no stranger to the county. He still has a house in Davington, near Faversham, where he raised his children.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Fears new traffic website could lead to 'hoostrage'

A CONTROVERSIAL new website is asking motorists to sound their horn at roadworkers in an effort to get them to work harder.

Hoottheroadworkers.com has attracted criticism on safety grounds as critics say it could provoke road rage style confrontations – now dubbed 'hoostrage'.

The site calls on drivers to sound their horns at specific sites – mentioned specifically is the M20 Junction 10 which was due for completion earlier this month.

The website, which is posted anonymously, reads: "This people, is how we get our justice.

"I fully appreciate the importance of roadworks so I am not suggesting you go and hoot and annoy all roadworkers.

"However, what I do propose is hooting all the roadworks that have passed their deadline."

The statement concludes: "It's hoped that finishing the job late whilst being continually hooted will annoy them enough to get subsequent jobs finished on time. Well we can hope. Power to the people."

Invicta FM search for 2007 choir champions

HAS your school got the Xmas Factor? Then commercial radio station Invicta FM wants to hear from you.

The station is once again searching for the top school choir in the county as part of its annual talent search.

As part of the prize, the winning choir will get a chance to record their own Christmas CD with funds from sales going towards raising money for their school.

For details on how to apply and be in with a chance of being crowned champions, log-on to www.invictafm.com/xmasfactor.

Personal interests put aside in bid to get village hall built

THREE councillors on Wittersham parish council have been given special permission to take part in meetings concerning the building of a new village hall and car park.

Cllrs David Lewis, Paul Lyon and David Pennyfather own properties next to the proposed site, where the new village hall would be built, which has split the opinion of local residents.

Their declared interest in the decision would normally exclude them from meetings when the subject came up, but Ashford council chiefs say they can be involved to prevent further delay to the planning process.

QUESTION & ANSWER

LESLEY ELLIS

Q How long have you been the headteacher?

A I have worked at the North School for five years. Four years as deputy and head-teacher since May 2006.

Q What do you think of the town of Ashford?

A I think Ashford is lucky to be situated where it is in Kent. It is undergoing massive transformations with a clear investment programme. But Ashford's heart lies with its residents who are passionate about where they live, their community and their environment. They will react appropriately if they feel that their community is being threatened and I respect this.

I would like to see more affordable homes for young adults who wish to continue to live in Ashford. At the moment I cannot see how our young adults are able to afford their own homes.

Q Do you think that it is a good place for children to grow up in?

A Yes. It has some excellent schools, leisure facilities and easy access to further and higher educational opportunities. Ashford is very well situated with easy access to the countryside, London, the south-coast and Europe.

Q People have concerns about how children behave these days. What are the best ways to instil discipline in children?

A Parents have the main responsibility for the behaviour patterns of their children. I think boundaries are very important in behaviour management and when parents do not set boundaries it makes it very difficult for their children to learn what is acceptable. This is why school rules and routines are so important as they enable us to help to reinforce the responsibilities of parents. We are lucky as our parents and carers are very supportive and help us if their child's behaviour is unacceptable. We have a clear inclusive behaviour management policy that helps all our students to become responsible citizens. This is why school uniform is so important as it is the primary indicator of a student's willingness to co-operate and support the whole school ethos.

Q Do you think education in Ashford will be able to cope with its expansion?

A Yes. There is actually a falling roll in Ashford and capacity exists in the schools for expansion if necessary. Until there is clear evidence that school rolls are increasing I see no need to build a new secondary school. It is important to realise how good the collaboration is between the secondary schools in Ashford.

As the national 14-19 developments in education continue, a student could actually follow courses in two or even three centres, with expertise developing around each school's specialist areas. For example; a student could follow a post-16 course at the North in sport, go to Norton Knatchbull to take Spanish and then reinforce their studies with a vocational placement in another provider. The future is exciting.

Q What ambitions do you have for the school?

A To continue to improve our ability to ensure our students are successful, happy and healthy. To ensure there is good post-16 progression in collaboration with other post-16 providers in Ashford.

Q What unique things does your school offer the children?

A That every aspect of our teaching and support is designed around the needs of our students. Achievement exceeds expectations. Our learning environment is unique and helps us to develop global citizenship and sustainable living.

Q What do you dislike about modern life?

A I am not someone who dwells on the past. I think each generation will have new and different pressures. The rate of change, however, does seem to be phenomenal and it's hard to grasp that the jobs our younger students will do have not been created yet.

Spurs founder remembered

A CEREMONY this week gave deserved recognition to the founder of Tottenham Hotspur who lies in a pauper's grave in Dover.

The Rev John Ripsher founded the Premiership club in order to get the youngsters of 19th century London off the streets.

Rev Ripsher lost his sight and died in a workhouse 100 years ago this month and his remains are buried in St Mary's Cemetery.

Spurs' executive director, Paul Barber, and Steve Ripsher, a descendant, were all present.

Also there were the living relatives of ex-Spurs star Walter Tull – the first professional black outfield player to play in Britain and who died while serving as an officer in World War One.

Mr Barber said: "It's a fascinating story; poetic and sad. There is huge respect here for what John did in those early years – not just founding the club, but keeping it going."

The Rev Ripsher's tale was unearthed by Peter Lupson, whose discovery that Everton were formed by boys in the bible class at St Domingo's Methodist Chapel set him on an 11-year search for the religious roots of the game.

Rev Ripsher was a bible teacher at All Hallows Church in Tottenham and the club's first president

Mr Lupson said: "He gripped my imagination. He stood by those boys, who had continually let him down. If he had not stuck by those lads there would be no club today."

Spurs executive Paul Barber said: "It is strangely fitting because it is our 125th birthday match next week, against Aston Villa."

Mr Lupson discovered that 12 of the 39 clubs that have played in the Premiership share a church background.

Mr Lupson said: "What grieves me – having spent so long researching these people that I almost feel I know them – is the disrepair so many of the graves had fallen into."

"I want to see them restored to some level of dignity, and the clubs agree wholeheartedly."

Two year old is youngest to receive pacemaker

TODDLER Amber Howe is set to live a normal life just three months after a heart blockage almost killed her.

The two-year-old from Sittingbourne became the second youngest person in the UK ever fitted with a pacemaker after she stopped breathing while asleep.

Within hours she was undergoing surgery at a top London hospital where surgeons inserted the device. This week docs have told her mum Ali the op was a total success and little Amber will be able to lead a normal life.

Muslims call for new faith school in county

MUSLIM community leaders are calling for a state funded Islamic school to be set up for serve the county.

Anwar Khan of the Kent Muslim Welfare Association, said hundreds of children were being deprived of an education in a specialist faith school. Kent County Council have agreed to heed the call and offered help.

Mr Khan, who is attached to Jamia Mosque in Gillingham, said about 100 children attended out of school classes there to learn about the faith.

Open will be back to tee off in Sandwich in 2011

ONE of the biggest events in world golf is set to return to Sandwich after yesterday's confirmation the Open will be staged at Royal St George's in 2011.

And the announcement is good news for the whole county with more than £20 million pounds set to be pumped into the local economy.

The last time the major was staged at the course was in 2003, with more than 183,000 fans flocking to see golfing stars such as Tiger Woods, Greg Norman, and Ernie Els.

FUTURISTIC: A pod in the new Liquid club

Venue set to lead club scene

THE clubbing scene in Maidstone is set to be transformed when Ikon reopens in November following a £3 million upgrade.

The new 1,800 capacity club will be relaunched as Liquid and Envy.

General manager Julian Holyoake said: "We plan to provide the ultimate 'must visit' clubbing experience. Our unique touches will really set us apart from our competition."

The Lockmeadow leisure complex in Barker Road will be split into two rooms with a number of party booths overlooking the dance floor.

These futuristic pods will be used as exclusive VIP rooms when the club opens on November 2.

Clubbers attending the Liquid area will also get to experience the latest sound and lighting systems as club chiefs look to attract customers from across the county.

Envy, the second room in the venue, is aimed to accommodate the over 23's with a more chilled atmosphere, private booths and table service.

The venue will also incorporate a brand new smoking terrace on the roof overlooking Barker Road. Liquid and Envy will be open Tuesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

For an exclusive look inside the club log on to Yourkenttv.co.uk to the community channel.

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living in the district of Ashford...

Vision of our promised land has failed to become reality

THE REVEREND Sheila McLachlan's comments reported in Yourashford last week made interesting reading – and struck a chord with me.

I have lived in Ashford since 1984 and during that time have seen the town transformed almost beyond recognition.

And not only after the town was identified as one of the areas to bear the brunt of a massive, Government-led, new homes explosion.

For those with long memories, the arrival of the high-speed rail link between London and the Continent decimated communities as homes were subject to compulsory purchase orders.

It caused upset and pain for many who had lived in the town for years and were suddenly being told their home was on the hit list.

Then there was the huge mess created around the outskirts of the town as our little railway station – historically the hub around which Ashford was developed – was transformed into an 'international station' serving customers wanting to get to Paris in the same amount of time as it took to get round the ring road during the recent roadworks.

The memory of the old cattle market being turned into a mess of construction remains fresh. And, for a whole generation, there were years where going to the cinema meant a trip to Canterbury or Folkestone as one of the rare entertainment venues in the town was bulldozed to make way for a multi-story car park to accommodate the multitude of travellers jumping on to the Eurostar at the station. Ahem.

No sooner had that project been completed then the new homes started arriving.

And with it the green fields which used to surround the town and its outlying areas have gradually been eroded as the town sprawled out like Homer Simpson's belly when he undoes his belt.

Yet despite the huge growth, despite the international station, and despite finally getting a new cinema and even a bowling alley, the town has hardly delivered on the promises we were all sold on.

Which was pretty much the point, as I could see, of Rev McLachlan's comments last week.

This town has been on the receiving end of major projects, yet in order to deliver on the promises it risks losing its heart and its soul.

So many promises of transforming the town into a hub for tourists and a place where people want to live because of the quality of life it offers – and not just because it's convenient when it comes to catching a train to London or hurtling on to the M20 – appear to be unfulfilled.

The slogan 'Ashford – the best placed town' – is surely a sign the fight to make the town a genuine 'destination' rather than simply conveniently placed while heading somewhere else, has been lost... at least for now.

And that is a crying shame.

TALK TIME

TRACEY McKEEN

Tracey McKeen, manager of Ashford Tourist Centre, discusses promoting the town to visitors

Ashford is not as well known as other towns in Kent as a tourist destination. How many tourists do you get a year?

Actually coming through our door here we see around 30,000 a year. But there are all sorts of visitors. Some may only be here for a day some are staying with friends and family.

The Eurostar does mean a lot more people are visiting Ashford. We have more visitors than you would think. We do have a lot to offer. We may not have the big attractions but we have a lovely town centre and beautiful countryside. We try to encourage those using the train to spend more time here. We have had more foreign visitors this year. I would say eighty per cent of our visitors come from the UK and twenty per cent from abroad. This year the biggest number of foreign tourists has come from Germany.

Have you had any funny requests from people coming into the centre?

We get some very strange requests. We once had a man come in who wanted to hire an elephant for his wife's birthday party. We did actually manage to help him with that because the circus was visiting the town at the time. We get all sorts of requests: Where can I buy a tarantula? Where can I get my body pierced? Tourist information can be quite a misleading title at times. But that what's great about the job because every day is different.

Would you be one of the people standing outside a Northern Rock bank?

I would not. I think if the government have guaranteed your savings I would be tempted to put money in. I have got quite cross seeing all those people in the queues because it just makes the situation worse.

Building, building everywhere

JUST how many housing developments can this town take?

Reading that there are plans for a new village near Stanhope made my blood boil.

I should be grateful that the council don't seem to support the idea, but the prospect of yet another load of new houses hardly fills me with glee.

Views about town I can believe in

IT WAS good to hear the Reverend Sheila McLachlan's views on developments in the town in Yourashford last week.

Quite honestly, I couldn't agree with her views more. The town has for too long just had new developments tacked on to it with little regard for the overall good of the area.

Building new houses is the easy part. It is ensuring there are sufficient facilities for both those new to the town and those who have lived here for decades (like myself and my family) which should be at the forefront of everyone's mind.

Ashford has a lot going for it

I WAS very surprised to read Sheila McLachlan's comments in your newspaper.

UPLOAD YOUR VIDEOS

OUR new online, on-demand, broadband TV service – www.yourkenttv.co.uk – is now fully launched, allowing YOU to upload your videos.

Soft launched earlier this month, the service is now fully operational with hundreds of clips already online and ready for you to view, for free, on your PC.

With dedicated channels for sport, business, property, motors and leisure, there is also a community channel for you to upload your clips and access a potentially limitless audience.

From local bands to fetes, birthday parties to strolls around your local town or village, the channel is designed for you.

What's more, once you've seen the clips you can add your comments too – and rate them.

From the site, you can also access the newly-launched Kent County Council-backed KentTV service, which launched on Friday.

It is produced by Ten Alps – the production company of Live Aid hero Bob Geldof.

months ago – I have been impressed with the town, the quality of the new developments, and the facilities on offer.

With the opening of the Stour Centre – which certainly looks very good, although I've not yet had a chance to visit – I think the town has an awful lot going for it.

Meaty issue for consumers

While I normally don't care much for the plight of farmers, you have to feel a bit of sadness for them after all the grief they are now suffering as a result of the new foot and mouth outbreak.

Mind you, I suppose if it means the price of meat will take a bit of a plunge as a result, then it's not all bad news, eh?

Geoff Bigsun
Via email

Cash hasn't given the Town a boost

AFTER all the pre-season hype, Ashford Town's season seems to have started as they all seem to have done in recent years – with a lot of disappointments.

I thought after the new investors came on board we were supposed to be challenging for promotion. Instead it looks very much like a case of same-old-story, same-old mid-table mediocrity.

I know the season is young, but after you've been watching the team for as long as I have, you do find it all gets a bit much!

Day out didn't go swimmingly

ON Sunday my family attempted to go swimming at the new Stour Centre.

When we got there, we paid our parking fee and then marched around the building to find the entrance.

Upon entering, we were greeted by a member of staff and a large amount of people who had been waiting for over half-an-hour to go swimming.

We were instructed that if we wanted to go swimming we would have to wait 30 minutes or more to be served with a ticket so we could enter the pool.

The staff behind the till were not serving just sitting there.

Then we were told we would only have up to an hour to use the facilities!

So the residents of Ashford who have waited and waited for completion of the pool, put up with a £5 million over spend and are only allowed an hour for a swim.

It might be worth people not bothering to go to Ashford pool and go elsewhere, at least you can enjoy more of a family day out. But the price to go in remained the same despite the time limits and there were no discounts offered.

Help save your local TV news coverage

AS YOUR readers may be aware, ITV has announced plans to change its regional news coverage and scrap its three editions of Meridian Tonight, replacing them with one programme covering an area from Southend in Essex to Weymouth in Dorset.

We believe this will provide viewers with a much poorer service, ending the dedicated, award-winning, programme for Kent and Sussex. We would ask any readers who share this view to express their opinion to their local MP and to the broadcasting regulator Ofcom. The regulator can be contacted by email at: PSBReview@ofcom.org.uk.

As part of the complement of media outlets in Kent, like the papers in the KoS Media Group (publishers of Yourashford), we believe the public in our area currently receives a first-class service but this is one which will be damaged if these plans go ahead.

Ofcom claims to place great weight on the opinions of the public it is meant to serve, and we believe that the views of your readers can help stop this proposal.

Court Lodge plans will ruin area

I HAVE been reading your article in the new paper Yourashford concerning the plans for the Court Lodge site near Stanhope.

I am so pleased that there seems to be support against this development.

I visited the Mission Hall recently and was devastated to see the plans. It will completely ruin the area I live in. I live in Magpie Hall Road.

I would like to know the response of others living in the area.

We need to know whether we should get together and do a petition against the development.

Council locks horns with new village plan

COUNCIL bosses have looked to distance themselves from a controversial plan to build a new village of 1,000 homes on the site of the former Court Lodge. The plan, which would see the site of the former Court Lodge, a large house which was built in the 1930s, being converted into a new village of 1,000 homes. The plan was unveiled by the council in a public meeting at the Mission Hall, a local community centre, on Sunday. Lee's having the last laugh

Ricky Gervais is a huge fan, but his mum prefers Tom O'Connor – so just how funny is Stewart Lee?

ANYONE who has ever enjoyed cutting-edge comedy will be familiar with Stewart Lee's work, even if they don't recognise his face.

His many writing credits include Radio 4's On The Hour, which later became the groundbreaking TV series The Day Today and launched the careers of, among others, Steve Coogan.

He acted as script editor for Harry Hill's first television programme, wrote episodes for Al Murray the Pub Landlord and this year co-scripted a critically acclaimed play with Johnny Vegas.

With a new stand-up tour called 41st Best Stand-Up Ever! – a homage to his ranking in a Channel 4 poll – audiences might be expecting a mediocre talent.

One of the poster quotes describes him as "the worst stand-up I have ever seen", but industry guru Ricky Gervais claims Lee is "the funniest, most cliché-free comedian on the circuit".

The unusual choice of tour name has proved a useful theme for the show, as Lee discusses our roles in life and how we are viewed by our families.

"My mother thinks I'm wasting my life in comedy," he revealed. "Her favourite comedian is Tom O'Connor and she keeps telling me one of his 'proper' jokes about a sardine. I got half an hour's worth of material out of that joke."

In the mid-90s, Lee and comedy partner Richard Herring enjoyed a spell as student heroes with BBC2 series Fist of Fun and This Morning With Richard Not Judy. Now 39, Lee is slightly bemused by the apparent nostalgia for their surreal old shows. "When we started out as a double act, the viewing figures weren't great and nobody came to our live shows," he said. "So it was strange to realise that people viewed us in that fond way. Now people who liked us back then bring their kids to my show. But the growth of the internet means people are discovering them again and talking about new comedies."

Lee's first brush with major mainstream success was to become one of the most painful episodes in his career, when he was asked to direct and contribute to the hugely controversial stage show Jerry Springer: The Opera in 2001.

When it ran at London's National Theatre for four months in 2003, Lee described that period as "the highlight of my life".

But after a four-year run in theatres and a good deal of critical acclaim, the opera attracted the attention of Christian Right groups and the British National Party. The massive protests and media debate that followed effectively derailed the production, leaving Lee disillusioned with mainstream theatre.

Also a novelist and a rock music critic for the Sunday Times, Lee is dedicated to providing alternative entertainment and escaping "the squares". If anything good came out of his Jerry Springer experience, he claimed, it was the chance to kill off the show while it was still worth watching.

He said: "Most things do become worse with popularity. When I was a kid, indie music and alternative comedy was just for the weirdos, but now you get football fans going to comedy gigs and listening to Oasis."

"Now I think what's left for all the misfits? I left my last management company because they were trying to get me a late-night ITV slot, as if that was the logical end point for my career. But I didn't want that."

"I would like more money, though, so that's why I'm writing the next series of My Family. That's a joke, by the way."

• Stewart Lee is appearing at the Gulbenkian Theatre, Canterbury, at 7.45pm on Friday, October 5. Tickets cost £14/£12. To book, you can phone 01227 769075, or visit www.gulbenkiantheatre.co.uk.

TOMMY FLEMING

Tuesday, October 2
Sinden Theatre, Tenterden

THE unique voice of Tommy Fleming can be experienced when he brings his live show to Tenterden next week.

He may not be a household name in England, but Fleming is the Irish Republic's highest-grossing vocalist. The flame-haired singer has won several industry awards and been nominated for many others.

But life could have been very different for Tommy. In 1998, he broke his neck in a horrific car accident and faced the possibility of paralysis.

A year later he was back, and his career has gone from strength to strength, with Eric Clapton among his fans. He has performed worldwide and has now embarked on a tour of the Great Britain and America.

For a real Irish flavour, a traditional three-course dinner will be available in the Balcon Restaurant from 6pm.

The gig starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £15. To book, call the box office on 01580 763826 or visit the website at www.sindentheatre.biz.

ON GENERAL RELEASE

A MIGHTY HEART (15)

GEORGE Bush's war on terror will ultimately be won or lost in the media. In their pursuit of these stories, journalists risk their lives to expose the shocking truth about the conflict. In 2002, the kidnapping and subsequent beheading of Wall Street Journal reporter Daniel Pearl in Pakistan shocked the world. This film is an harrowing account taken from his wife Mariane's memoirs. Released last Friday.

MICHAEL CLAYTON (15)

MICHAEL Clayton (George Clooney) is an in-house 'fixer' at one of the largest corporate law firms in New York. Clayton, a former prosecutor from a family of cops, takes care of the firm's dirtiest work. He cleans up clients' messes, handling anything from hit and runs to shoplifting wives and crooked politicians. Released, Friday, September 28.

EVENING (12A)

SOME of the finest actresses working today join forces for Lajos Koltai's saccharine drama, based on the popular novel by Susan Minot. In the opening scenes, Vanessa Redgrave shares the screen with her real-life daughter Natasha Richardson and the luminous Toni Collette and Eileen Atkins. Released last Friday.

Journey into the unknown

■ BY ROBIN WALKER

KURT RUSSELL has been working as an actor in Hollywood since he was a child in the 60s, but he's about as different as can be from the typical Tinseltown thespian.

For one, he is a card-carrying member of the National Rifle Association and an admitted Republican, something a lot of similar-minded stars have chosen to keep under wraps in the liberal world of showbiz.

"There were instances where people would call me up and say 'This director was afraid of working with you because of your politics'," said the 56-year-old, who dubs himself a libertarian. "That started to change about 10 years ago," he continued. "Writers stopped trying to turn me into a wooden Republican along the lines they were doing to Charlton Heston. Now I can go to a party and not feel so outcast."

He is also unafraid to admit that acting is one of the easier professions and something that has got him into trouble with those who prefer to play the 'artiste'.

"To go on about acting as art is ridiculous," he said. "You don't have to be gifted just to hit a mark and say a line. As far as I'm concerned that's 90 per cent of the job. Anyone who finds acting difficult just shouldn't be doing it."

Indeed, the reluctant professional does make his latest role look easy, playing a psychotic driver called Stuntman Mike in Quentin Tarantino's new film, Death Proof.

A heartless but charismatic villain, Mike cajoles young women into his specially-adapted car for a journey that normally ends in tragedy.

"I just took one word and ran with it - coward," said Kurt of his approach to the character. "This is a guy who kills women. I think it's the core of all these psycho-killer characters, especially this one."

VIEW THIS PREVIEW

yourashford.co.uk

The film, a blend of slasher flick and car chase action, sees Mike getting more and more deranged.

"He's not one character all the way through. He's got issues with pain," said Russell.

"I said to Quentin 'Why don't we do something different here at the end? Why don't we really go with this word 'coward'? So we went all the way down that road," he said.

It's certainly a return to the scarier side of Kurt's portfolio, the veteran screen star having cornered the market in horror as a younger man in films including The Thing and Escape From New York.

And in a way, Death Proof is a homage to the films of Russell's past. It was originally conceived as a double feature from Tarantino and director Robert Rodriguez, called Grindhouse,

KILLING TIME: Kurt Russell plays Stuntman Mike, a psychotic driver in Tarantino's new film Death Proof and both are apparently fans.

"To be part of, in a weird way, the process of their love affair with movies was a special feeling," said Russell.

Most important to the actor was creating a really memorable screen baddie. "I've never actually seen one of these characters at the end of a movie completely fall apart. It's like when you hammer your finger - you have an idea what it will feel like, but when you actually do it it's way worse than you thought!" he said.

Renowned for his on-screen stunts, Kurt shows no signs of wanting to scale down the action, and does a lot of the incredible driving in the movie himself.

"The problem is you're in the wrong lane doing 100mph," said Russell.

"You have to trust that a coyote won't run into the road or another car slip by one of the roads they've told you are shut off. To put that out of your head and play the character while you're doing it, that's what you get paid to do."

• Death Proof, directed by Quentin Tarantino, was released last Friday.

Let the Oriana take the strain

BY JEREMY GATES

WHEN Atlantic breezes nudged up to Force Seven, and Oriana's captain gently applied his accelerator, the P&O cruise ship devised such a beguiling roll that the chairs in the library lounge became positively hypnotic.

Perhaps Nelson's men felt the same in their hammocks. Ongoing research among my fellow passengers found hardly any of us could hold a book or magazine for more than 10 minutes, before zizzing gently off to the Land of Nod.

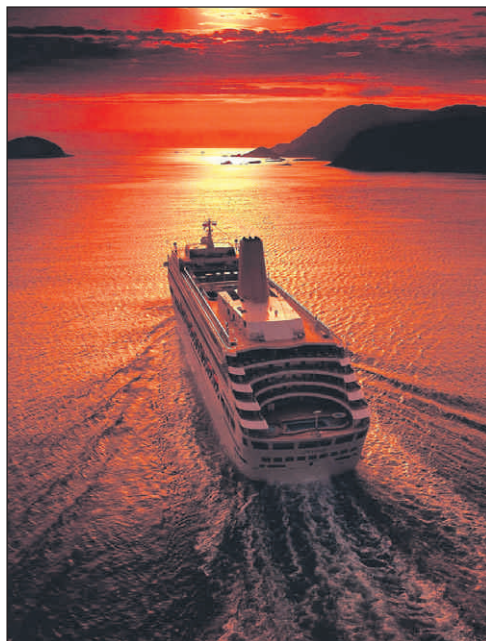

The 70,000-tonne Oriana took over from Canberra as the new mainstay of P&O's fleet back in 1995, when few realised a new boom in cruising lay just around the corner.

Since then the new generation of superliners has taken over, some twice Oriana's size and even bigger. Plenty have become giant floating hotels or shopping malls.

After a major upgrade last autumn Oriana, to her great credit, continues to set her own style: she's Middle England at sea, when so many other ships adopt the brasher approach of the US/Caribbean cruise market.

Although Oriana carried a full complement of 1,800 passengers on our trip, we ordered breakfast in our room – at no extra charge – to watch the sun coming up over the Atlantic breakers entirely alone.

There are still only a handful of shops on board, the cricket bats signed by Don Bradman and Colin Cowdrey are still proudly on show in the Lord's Tavern bar, and a pre-breakfast stroll on the promenade deck brings cheerful smiles of greeting from early retirees sporting the latest leisure gear.

JUST CRUISING: P&O's cruise ship the Oriana sets her own style; a case of Middle England at sea

In line with the latest fashion, of course,

Oriana will serve up meals around the clock in various bars on the lido deck. But why forgo the pleasant evening ritual of dressing to a modestly respectable level for either first or second sitting of dinner in the formal restaurants?

We thought the quality of the food this time was even better than on our first visit.

Before each stop, there's a duty-free sale of 'take ashore' items – from spirits to cigarettes – to boost takings.

With so many things to do on board, ports of call passed in something of a blur – and few passengers seemed bothered about where they went anyway.

The city of Corunna is a nicer corner of northern Spain than it looks at first sight. Santa Cruz, on the northern shore of Tenerife, is being impressively revamped to give this beleaguered island a new, upmarket image.

Lanzarote I can't recall with pleasure, because I ended up amid the boozy bars of Puerto del Carmen, but Madeira is the perfect pitstop on any voyage. That first glimpse of Funchal climbing endlessly up a steep hillside as you pull back the curtains can't fail to take the breath away.

When we climbed the elegant flower gardens of Funchal to look down on the Oriana, in harbour, bedecked in flags from stem to stern, I realised how misguided is the 'expert' who wrote that the QE2 is the last ship to actually look like a cruise ship.

Oriana is a stunner too. If you can get on board for £100 per person per day, with all meals and entertainment provided and occasional ice creams thrown in for free, the opportunity shouldn't be missed.

"I now have a steady stream of customers and can sleep much easier at night. Discover my secret..."

Every business would love some more customers and more sales. Jocelyn Young of Dance Connection, a Dance studio business claims to have her own secret weapon to growing her business.

"Like a lot of businesses we reached a point where we needed more customers. We decided with the growth of the Internet to drag ourselves into the 21st century and market online.

Our existing web designer didn't have the knowledge to get us listed on search engines or to create an automatic way to collect new leads. Our website was just not being seen by enough potential customers or getting people to contact us!"

Jocelyn called Rob Wilson at Websites In Business after being recommended to him by one of her suppliers.

"Since Rob started working with us, within weeks our business has gone from strength to strength. Having Rob on board I feel confident we can continue to reach our potential clientele and expand our business.

I am sure without Rob and Websites In Business I would be finding things extremely difficult now and I would be finding it hard to sleep at night!"

YOUR WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY RUSSELL GRANT

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 - Feb 19)

EXPANDING your horizons will be easier than usual over the next four weeks. Don't be surprised if you make friends with somebody influential as a result of your activities. On a personal note an admirer could become relentless in their pursuit of you. Signing a contract is favoured this week, as is sealing a deal with a neighbour or relative.

TAURUS (Apr 21 - May 21)

THERE'S never been a better time to launch a job search or exercise programme. If you're happy with your current employer, you may want to negotiate a better package or added perks. Dealings with a bureaucratic institution could finally be wrapped up, giving you the green light to get your plans up and running.

LEO (July 24 - Aug 23)

THE next four weeks promise to be a busy time. It's vital you keep on top of phone calls, emails, and text messages or an important deal could fall through the cracks. If you've already got a partner, arrange a fun mini break for you both. Special recognition could be given to you soon, opening the door to a whole new set of career options.

SCORPIO (Oct 24 - Nov 22)

YOU'LL be keeping a low profile between now and late October. It's easy to negotiate a great financial deal from behind the scenes. If you've been interviewing for jobs, you could get a solid offer by the end of the week. Having this position makes it easier to assert your ideas with confidence. Pursue a course of study between now and the end of the year.

PISCES (Feb 20 - Mar 20)

GETTING closer to the one you love may be your first order of business, but don't let personal issues stop you attending to financial matters. You may also want to nudge your older relatives into making similar arrangements. Wrap up any ongoing salary negotiations if you can this week for your chances of earning more money will be strong.

GEMINI (May 22 - Jun 22)

THIS week begins the most romantic phase of the year for you. If you're single, be sure to hit as many social gatherings as possible. If you already have a partner, arrange a trip for you and your amour. Your connection with a large organisation could come to an end allowing you to shift your focus to increasing your income between now and December.

VIRGO (Aug 24 - Sep 23)

THIS week brings an opportunity to make money by doing something you love. Don't be afraid to send your CV to an employer that has always interested you. If you're happy with your current post, ask the boss if you can work from home. A decision regarding an insurance payment, tax refund, or inheritance could be made in your favour.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23 - Dec 21)

YOUR social life sparkles over the next four weeks. This is a wonderful time to make new business and romantic contacts. Your powerful personality makes a good impression on a group of intellectuals. A love affair could fill you with anticipation for a happy future. Don't be surprised if you find yourself spending quiet evenings with your beloved.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr 20)

YOU'RE very decisive when it comes to romance and now you're sure you want to move forward with a blossoming affair. This talk could prompt you to embark on an exciting journey. Finishing a personal project gives you a terrific burst of energy. Household matters will take up the lion's share of your attention from now until the end of the year.

CANCER (Jun 23 - Jul 23)

THE month ahead gives you a chance to attend to domestic matters. A pressing career matter is concluded helping you make changes to your workplace with a well-worded proposal. Studies related to religion or culture could take on an increased importance between now and October. Be aggressive about your desires until the end of the year.

LIBRA (Sep 24 - Oct 23)

YOU'LL be coming into your own this week. Don't let anybody dictate the terms of a deal to you. By communicating your needs with power and passion, you'll get everything you want. A close relationship could undergo a profound change as a result of this sting. Your partner is really turned on by the new you.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 - Jan 20)

YOU can make impressive progress up the career ladder in the coming months. Don't be afraid to take the reins of power if your boss has to step down for a while. If someone offers you a tough job, accept the challenge willingly. This week is ideal for closing on a house or resolving a family conflict. Give a loved one your unconditional support.

When this Belle rings Billie comes a calling

■ BY ANDY WELCH

WHEN the name Billie Piper comes up in conversation, one of two images tend to spring to mind for most people.

Either as a teen popstar or as Rose Tyler in the resurrected and hugely successful Doctor Who.

From this week she will add a third public face, and this one is very grown up.

She appears in Secret Diary Of A Call-Girl, in which she plays prostitute Belle de Jour – a true story adapted for the new ITV2 series.

'Belle' – her real identity has never been revealed – worked as a high-class escort in London for years, before detailing her exploits in a famous online blog and later in two books, The Intimate Adventures Of A London Call-Girl and The Further Adventures Of A London Call-Girl.

"It's intimate," said Billie of the eight-part series. "Really intimate. I'm really scared, if I'm honest. Well, just... I'm quite nervous, you know, because of the nature of the show."

"I hope people think it's been handled well and that at times it makes people laugh and that people can get over the initial shock factor of the piece."

It may indeed come as a shock to some viewers to see Billie – who celebrated her 25th birthday this month – writhing around in her underwear, and of course, in some scenes, doing what prostitutes do – having sex. But the young actress is more than aware of what she's letting herself in for.

Billie said: "I considered this job more than I considered anything before. It's such a different world to what I know. Obviously it's quite full on and it's relentless. It's not just one

ALL CHANGE: From travelling the galaxy with Dr Who, Billie Piper plays a high-class prostitute in her latest role sex scene here and there, it's... endless!"

Many people would happily admit that acting out such scenes in front of a room full of camera crew would make us blush, but Billie maintains she didn't get embarrassed.

"You talk endlessly about it and you choreograph it like a contemporary dance," she said.

As viewers will soon find out, Billie spends a lot of time in her skimpy, but she looks good, make no mistake. So is her super-toned body the result of hours and hours in the gym?

"No, not the gym. I don't like the gym at all, makes me want to kill myself. But I have been running outside quite a bit, and I'd just finished a play," she said.

Despite winning a Guardian newspaper award for Blog of the Year and publishing two books, there is still some doubt by sceptics as to whether Belle was a real person.

Billie, however, insists that she met the real Belle, who helped her to prepare for the role.

"She's sweet and she's interesting. She's very clever as well," Billie says.

As well as being impressed by the former call-girl – who has apparently now retired – Billie had a few questions of her own for Belle.

"I wanted to know when she was with a bloke, what their faces were like," she says.

Pardon?

"I wanted to know if they were bolshy and turned into egomaniacs or power-freaks," she added.

"Belle told me that it was quite the opposite. Men get really scared and vulnerable and nervous, worrying about if they are going to be exposed to the point where they can't perform. I didn't think it would be like that, so it was quite fascinating really."

MISSING FRIENDS: A non-profit-making, three-minute music video called Missing Friends/Amigos Perdidos, made by children, for children. Explanation: "We know it won't win an Oscar, but just the same we think it is beautiful because it's a film of our children capturing the innocence and joy of their childhood. What could be more precious? Sadly, thousands of children just like them disappear each and every year, and the names of Ben Needham, Yeremi Vargas and Madeleine McCann have been added to that growing list.

"None of us can afford to be indifferent. Evil flourishes when good people choose to do nothing. The reality is we are part of a community that is local, national and worldwide, especially where this cause is concerned.

"We can all be more proactive and a little less reactive. Together, we can make a difference, but only if we try. This is the least we owe Ben, Yeremi and Madeleine, and every other missing child and tormented family that has suffered through this never-ending tragedy. Let's all protect the innocent."

SHAMEFUL BEHAVIOUR: Local rising rock band Shameful Behaviour perform So Fine at the now-lamented Ashford Rocks in April.

CRAZY TRAIN: Thanet classic rock covers band Crazy Train playing live at the Bradstow Mill in Broadstairs this month.

WANTED: LED ZyGO member Alan says: "We thought we'd get a band together, playing Led Zep. Only thing is, we don't have a singer yet."

SIX YEARS LOST: Band perform their song, The Sky is Empty, live at the Shrimpers Regatta on Gravesend Prom – on a rather wet and windy day.

Exchange rate matters when buying overseas

PROPERTY investors looking to the overseas market could stand to lose more than £3,500, according to experts at the Property Investor Show.

At a time when the pound is strong against some of the world's leading currencies, second homebuyers and property investors should be looking to cash in on exchange rates when transferring money for the property purchase.

Instead, the investor's group claim many are losing money on this important transaction simply by using a high street bank rather than a foreign exchange specialist which offers a more competitive rate.

Mark O'Sullivan, head of trading at Currencies Direct: "Aside from a UK home, buying a property abroad is likely to be the most expensive purchase you will make and it is crucial to get the best deal on the exchange rate to ensure you don't lose out when transferring money overseas.

"Using a specialist rather than a bank could save thousands of pounds which can be spent on other initial costs. This figure doesn't even take into account the transfer fees that many banks charge, which would inflate the amount further."

Home owners' fears over interest rate hike

CONCERNS over mortgage rates have intensified this month, according to the latest survey.

Website propertyfinder.com's monthly survey uncovered reduced optimism when it comes to house prices across the market.

It is now expected that prices will rise at a rate of 3.9 per cent – roughly in line with wage growth. This represents a slower-than-expected hike in prices, which were forecast for a 5.1 per cent rise over the summer months.

Added to this is the fear that interest rates are set to get higher, meaning more cash outlay for mortgage payers.

Warren Bright, chief executive of propertyfinder.com, said: "Buyers and sellers still expect house prices to rise – just more slowly.

"The housing market has responded to higher base rates and will adjust further thanks to the credit squeeze in the wholesale markets.

"For new borrowers, especially those with poorer credit records, mortgages will be harder to come by.

"It seems likely the housing market will remain slow."

RISE AND FALL: Although August figures show an increase in sales and buyers, there are still concerns over the effect HIPs and interest rates will have on the housing market

Housing market is still clouded by uncertainty

AFTER a slowdown in July the house market is once again picking up pace as estate agents report a rise in sales and buyers looking to snap up a property.

The latest information from the National Association of Estate Agents (NAEA) revealed the upturn with the number of registered buyers, properties on estate agents' books and sales per agent all rising during August.

However, with uncertainty clouding the economic climate, the majority of these figures were still down on the same time last year.

According to the NAEA, the number of people looking to purchase a home increased slightly in August with agents reporting a rise of 3.8 per cent with an average of 326 buyers registered on their books in comparison to the 314 recorded in July.

■ BY ED HILL

While an increase in house hunters is typical for the time of year, this is the lowest reported August rise since 2003, as increasing interest rates and reduced house price inflation cause caution among consumers.

The number of houses for sale increased in August as NAEA members reported an average of 81 properties for sale during the month compared to the 45 properties reported the previous month. The number of sales reported increased in August, with an average of 12 houses sold per agent compared to the 10 properties sold per agent in July.

The number this time last year was 15.

The NAEA blame recent economic movements and introduction of the HIPs legislation for the decrease.

Meanwhile, first-time buyers took a smaller share of the market this summer as their percentage share was reported at 9.7 per cent, compared with 13.4 per cent in August 2006.

This continuing waning in the market can be partly attributed to the turbulent interest rate rises that have led to the current insecurity for this sector.

What's more, it is taking longer to complete house moves – rising from 17 weeks in 2006 to 18.2 in 2007.

NAEA president, Stewart Lilly, said: "The latest figures indicate that a period of low house price inflation may well be on its way.

"However, the recent introduction of the second phase of HIPs is likely to cause more disruption and in particular prompt a 'wait and see' strategy from individuals who are unsure about the full impact of the legislation."

HOW NEW HIGH SPEED RAIL LINK PLANS ARE ALREADY CHANGING THE FACE OF THE HOUSE MARKET.

MOTORS NEWS

Renault customer to hit slopes after win

LUCKY prizewinner Sarah Thorne grabbed skis for her visit to Motorline Renault in Ashford.

Although there was a distinct lack of snow at the Hilton Road dealership, she was gearing up for a winter sports holiday courtesy of the motor group.

She won £350 of holiday vouchers in a summer draw held across Motorline's four Renault service centres: Maidstone, Canterbury, Ashford and Dover.

As a keen skier there was no doubt about how Sarah, from Tenterden, would use her windfall: "I'm delighted. I haven't won anything like this before. I'm planning to use the vouchers towards a skiing holiday next year."

Why green is being highlighted in white

WHITE is the new green, judging by the many white-painted eco-friendly concept cars now produced as CO2 emissions become as crucial as fuel consumption.

Volvo's C30 special (pictured) highlights the trend well, but Fiat's small car line-up makes it favourite to lead the environmental battle.

Group chief Luca di Meo said: "We aim to be the manufacturer with the lowest CO2 emissions in Europe – and want to do this the Fiat way, providing customers with everyday solutions to reduce the environmental impact of personal transportation."

Micra '2008' due for launch next month

NISSAN has revamped its distinctive Micra for 2008 models, launched in October.

Trim levels and colour specs have also been revised to harmonise with the bigger Note hatchback/MPV and hugely successful Qashqai.

Features such as an audible speed warning system and Bluetooth phone link are now standard on certain versions and all Micras will now have a jack socket so that MP3 players can be played through the car's sound system.

Prices are also largely unchanged, starting from £7,495.

IMPROVED LOOK: New Toyota Prius is easier on the eye compared to its 'wheelie-bin' predecessor, but we're still waiting for an environmentally friendly car that thrills without waking the nasty, dirty petrol engine.

So, within an hour you have been through rehab and instead of risking road rage you are waiting around like a highway hippie delivering the milk.

The brakes are clever too, because they recover what would be lost energy on a normal car and channel it back into the car's battery – good for stop-start town traffic.

But all this technology costs. The cheapest Prius is nearly £18,000 – Toyota's equivalent conventional family hatchback, the Auris, starts at around £12,000 – and Toyota is rumoured to be subsidising every Prius sold.

Greens and gadget fans apart, buyers may also be put off by the relatively untried technology – despite an impressive eight-year/100,000-mile warranty on the hybrid system itself.

The car is also 'extremely' automatic – you simply select forward or reverse and go from A to B – which makes it a bit dull to drive even though the car handles and rides well.

On the other hand, it is a practical car to live with; the hybrid powertrain and batteries do not impinge on the car's ability to function as a roomy family hatchback.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

BEST-SELLING FAMILY HATCHBACKS

carsforkent.co.uk

LOOKING for a car that does it all? Start shopping for a family hatchback; it seats five, can be crammed like a small van and represents a good balance of space, flexibility and economy... providing you don't go for the 'hot hatch' version. Family hatches dominate the UK top 10 – all three of our recommendations are regulars – and the end product needs to be good to compete at all against talented opposition. Market clout helps, of course, but this trio deserves to be there on merit too – check out the profiles below.

FORD FOCUS

BRITAIN'S favourite car. Or is it? Some say it's number one through Ford's formidable market share. Fair point, but the Focus is also great to drive, practical, well-made and blessed with good engines. For second-hand buyers there is a fantastic choice of power – including the rapid ST – trim levels and body styles: a smart saloon and estate plus a coupé convertible. The car's popularity and ordinary looks are a weakness though and reason enough for some buyers to look elsewhere.

VAUXHALL ASTRA

SUFFERS like the Focus from being a common sight, thanks to its lofty new car top 10 sales position. But nobody could accuse the Astra of being dreary looking; Renault Megane aside, it is the most sharply styled family hatchback on sale. Vauxhall has also differentiated between the three-door model, dubbed the Sport Hatch, and the five-door workhorse. There is a longer wheelbase estate too. Engine options, including impressive Fiat-derived diesels, are among the best around.

VW GOLF

IT costs extra to get into a Golf, signalling the power of a more premium bonnet badge. Highly-regarded diesels also keep used prices up, while the GTI hot hatch lends glamour to the whole range. Interior quality and ambience is top notch too and the driving experience is possibly best in class. That said, the Golf suffers from fairly dull styling and some buyers might be tempted by sexier and cheaper used rivals such as the Citroën C4 and Megane.

So whether you've done a similar job before or not, the most important thing is that you can empathise with young people to gradually bring out the best in them. It's a role that requires intelligence and common sense, plus the knowledge that sometimes you have to earn respect and can't just demand it. Bring us all that, and we'll train you for a career that will see you turn young lives around. Go to www.workwithyoungpeople.co.uk for more details and to apply.

Dover Harbour Board
Europe's busiest and most successful ferry port, we handle 15 million passengers, 3 million tourist vehicles and 2 million freight vehicles a year. With these figures set to increase, we are investing around £300m in a new ferry terminal and associated infrastructure including a marina, property development and traffic regulation. With the momentum already building there's never been a more exciting time to join our team. You'll be heavily involved in all aspects of construction, from feasibility, design and detailing through to Project Management for new works and the maintenance of existing installations. Our forward workload is hugely varied, so you'll be working not only on maritime-related projects, but also civil engineering and building schemes. To make an impact, you'll need to be a widely experienced Civil Engineer (Chartered or Incorporated) or a graduate with some experience, working towards corporate membership of the Institution of Civil Engineers. You'll be given full training and support to gain this and when achieved, this will open up a clearly defined career path. It's not impossible to change someone's attitude as long as you're prepared to work at it – and our staff always are. So whether you've done a similar job before or not, the most important thing is that you can empathise with young people to gradually bring out the best in them. It's a role that requires intelligence and common sense, plus the knowledge that sometimes you have to earn respect and can't just demand it. Bring us all that, and we'll train you for a career that will see you turn young lives around. Go to www.workwithyoungpeople.co.uk for more details and to apply.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

'Outdated family doc' a hazard to firms' health

EMPLOYEES and businesses are being unnecessarily burdened by the 'outdated family doctor service', the CBI claims.

CBI South East regional director, Malcolm Hyde, said: "Official figures show 10 million adults in England alone cannot book an appointment with a GP more than 48 hours in advance. It's time there was real and fundamental reform with the needs of the patient coming first.

"A healthy workforce is as important to employers as a workforce with the skills needed to compete. An employee who isn't there because they have to wait around in a GP's surgery is a lost order or an unanswered phone call."

Government must fight EU's agency directive

FLEXIBLE working for thousands of people across the county could be in jeopardy, despite being increasingly offered by businesses – according to the latest research from the Confederation of British Industry.

The CBI has warned the Government it must stand firm against renewed EU and union pressure to resurrect the draft Agency Workers Directive; which puts agency workers on an equal footing with permanent staff after just six weeks.

The survey, by the CBI, the UK's biggest employers' organisation and the recruitment specialists Pertemps, suggests up to 250,000 placements across the country would be jeopardised if the directive were to be adopted.

MAKING A DIFFERENCE: The Lead2Succeed seminar hosted by Simon Thorpe (above right) is designed to help business leaders improve their decision-making and performance

Workshop will give bosses vital insight

GAINING that all important competitive advantage in the marketplace through strong leadership will form the focus of an interactive session staged at Eastwell Manor later this year.

With recent research by polling firm YouGov revealing poor decision-making by managers can harm business performance – with 83 per cent of employees claiming it damages morale, 51 per cent stating it reduces productivity and 19 per cent saying it allows competitors to get ahead – seminar organisers Business Link hope the event in November will put businesses needing to renew their focus, back on track.

The event is one of a number being staged across the south east by the Seeda-backed business information, advice and support organisation.

As well as exploring the foundations of leadership and the skills needed to run a successful business, the Lead2Succeed workshop will offer practical ideas to help companies get their heads in front of that of the competition.

Business Link's Deryck Banks said: "Lead2Succeed is a great opportunity for business leaders who want to review their own skills and develop ideas to drive growth, innovation and creativity.

"A leader's skills and attitude directly influence the culture of their company. By setting a good example, bosses should be able to create an ideal environment for employees to flourish and for the business to succeed."

The seminars are being presented by Simon Thorpe, a sports coach who boasts 20 years of experience in the leadership and management field.

Mr Thorpe said: "Hopefully the seminar will deliver insights on how to inspire and empower your staff to perform to the best of their abilities. Attendees will leave with an action plan to help them put their ideas into practice."

The workshop takes place on November 7 at Eastwell Manor, in Boughton Aluph. It begins with a light breakfast at 8am and is expected to conclude by midday. Places are limited to one owner or senior decision maker per independent local businesses employing five or more people.

Confidence in cup campaign

ASHFORD Town reserves begin their Kent Intermediate Cup campaign on Saturday with a trip to Lordswood.

The visitors will be in a confident mood of progressing after an unbeaten start to the season which included a 7-0 thrashing of Lordswood reserves a month ago.

The hosts have had an inconsistent start to the Kent League Premier season, and sit mid-table after the opening five games.

The game kicks off at the Lordswood Leisure Centre at 3pm.

Reeves close to side car crown

THREE-time world side car champion Tim Reeves is in touching distance of his first British Sidecar championship as the series moves to home circuit Brands Hatch this weekend.

Reeves, from Tenterden, and partner Patrick Farrance have already secured this year's world title with a win and a third place in the penultimate round of the championship in Croatia.

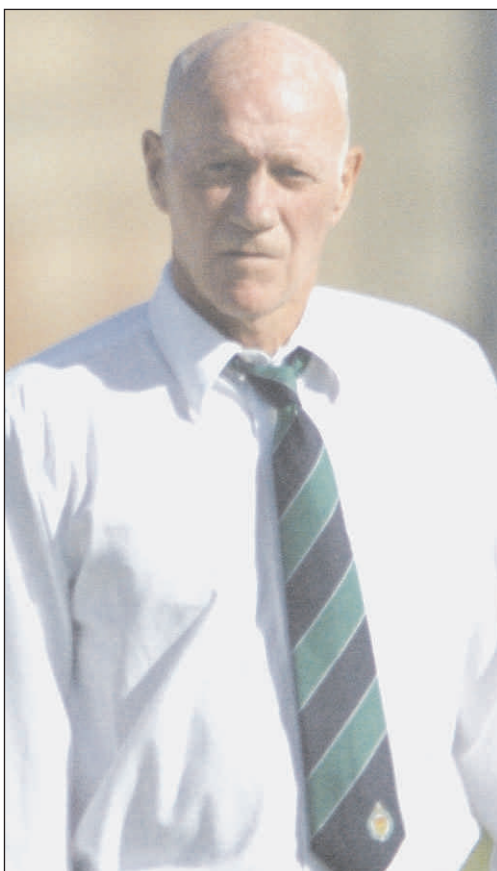

Ironically, Reeves has never won the British sidecar series despite his stranglehold on the world crown.

In the past he has lost the championship by a point in 2002 and two points in 2003, but this year he has a commanding lead of 50 points.

A win at the Kent circuit could secure Reeves and Farrance the title.

Reeves said: "It would be the icing on the cake if we can win the title considering we have won the world title and the teams championship this year.

"I love Brands and can't wait to have the support of friends and sponsors at the circuit."

winners in two previous games was really a blow.

"But we'll be alright for the remainder of the season. It's a question of getting a settled side out and going on from there."

The home side started the brightest with the dangerous Nana Badu causing problems up front.

The striker had a great chance to score early on but he could not hit the target after rounding Town keeper Sam Moore.

The miss stirred the visitors into a response, and they took the lead after 21 minutes.

Walid Matata seized on a loose back pass and fired an effort at goal. The shot was blocked, but Rob Denness was first to the rebound and his effort was handled on the line by a defender.

Mysteriously the player was not shown a red card for his deliberate hand ball. Matata slotted home the penalty to give Ashford the lead.

Again they were unable to hold on to a lead. Within nine minutes a slip from Nicky Humphrey let in Anthony Gale, who equalised for the home side.

Ashford had more of the ball in the second half but struggled to create clear-cut chances.

The longer the game went on the home side sensed a first league win of the season, and Badu got the winner with 25 minutes to go after Ashford failed to clear their lines.

Despite a late onslaught from the visitors they were unable to salvage a point. Nathan Simpson had the last chance with a well struck 25-yard free kick that was tipped over the bar.

Ashford had a chance to stop the run of defeats against Cray Wanderers last night. See yourashford.co.uk for the match report.

ASHFORD Town lost their first away game of the season as lowly Walton Casuals came from behind to win a dull game in Surrey.

The Nuts and Bolts controlled most of the possession but mistakes at the back cost them dear as they lost their third league game in a row.

Ashford boss Clive Walker feels the side have been unlucky in the opening few weeks of the season.

Walker ALSO said injuries had been a major factor in his side's inconsistent start.

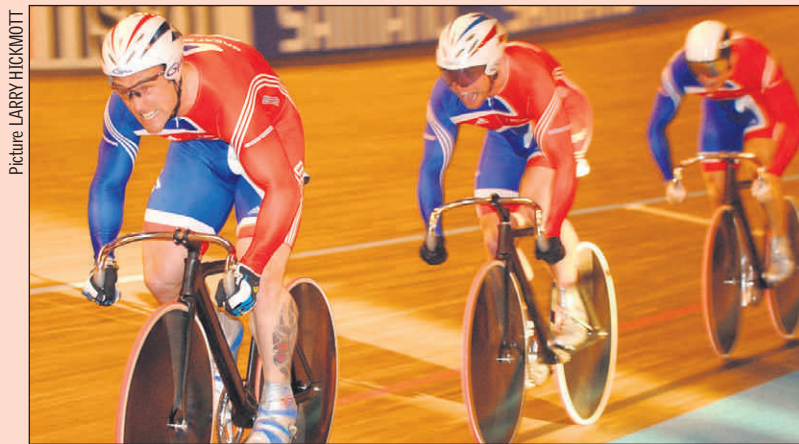

He said: "Our results have been a bit up and down so far.

"One of the reasons behind that is we have had injuries to key players – Nick Barnes, for instance, he's been out injured and he is a big loss.

"But the mood in the team is alright, we're all positive.

"I do feel we have been very unfortunate on a number of occasions, conceding last minute

GOING FOR GOLD: Jamie Staff gets ready for the British Championships

OLYMPIC track cyclist Jamie Staff begins another track cycling season in the British Championships at the Manchester Velodrome next week.

Staff, from Ashford, will compete in the team sprint with Great Britain Olympic riders Chris Hoy and Jason Queally in search of another gold medal.

He will also be competing in the Kilo event which begins next Tuesday and believes he has a great chance of winning the title after claiming a bronze medal in the world championship event this year.

Staff only began track cycling in 2002 after switching from BMX riding where, in 2001, he won the NBL Pro elite competition.

The reason for the switch was the chance of competing in the Olympics – at the time BMX was not on the Games' roster.

However, it was BMX riding for the Folkestone Flyers at a young age which propelled Staff to a fantastic cycling career.

Although, of his early years, Staff said: "I never once had Olympic aspirations – when I was a kid I just enjoyed cycling."

Ever since he turned to track cycling he has progressed from season to season, picking up many titles including the gold medal in last year's Commonwealth games in Melbourne, but an Olympic medal still eludes him.

This week, Staff will be training hard in Majorca with the British riders before travelling to Manchester for the championships.

He said: "My main goal will be to focus on the team sprint.

"I have a good shot at winning the title but there are a few young riders coming through the ranks to watch out for."

He added: "I'm looking forward to the championships and competing on home turf in Manchester on a track which I know every inch of."

Late surge wraps up tight away win

RUGBY

BY DAVID PRITCHARD

Beckenham 12 Ashford 14

ASHFORD recovered from a poor start to win their first game of the season in a low-scoring encounter against Beckenham.

A lack of planning meant the visitors did not arrive until just before kick-off and had no time to warm up.

Captain Paul Lake said: "It was a bit dour for most of the game but I think we showed what we are capable of in the last 10 minutes."

"Our younger players such as Jake Cotton, Danny Bushell, Dave Ward and JJ Murray are growing with confidence every game and I feel sure we can push for a promotion spot."

Ashford paid for the error by conceding eight penalties in the first period as the hosts piled on the pressure to go 6-0 up.

The away side eventually sparked into life and got off the mark with a flowing move down the left that saw Alastair Vant go over in the corner.

Beckenham enjoyed another spell of pressure before the break, adding two further penalties to make it 12-7.

Ashford's Matt King was sin binned for a late tackle, forcing the side to absorb more pressure early in the second half.

Both defences were on top and neither team looked like scoring until Ashford won the game with the move of the match.

JJ Murray broke the game line in his own half and after a series of interchanges between Tommy Murray and Paul Lake, JJ Murray went in under the posts. Karl Harding converted to edge Ashford in front.

They dominated the last 10 minutes with some slick running rugby but could not add to their lead and had to settle for a narrow win.

GOOD PREPARATION: Ashford thirds 9-3 friendly win against Old Williamsons

ASHFORD Hockey thirds came out on top 9-3 after an action-packed friendly win over Old Williamsons on Saturday.

Despite the score, it was Old Williamsons who started the brighter and had a few chances to score but couldn't beat the Ashford keeper.

Ashford captain Kevin Miller opened the scoring when he latched on to Gary Sutton's goal bound shot and deflected the ball into the goal.

The goal seemed to settle Ashford and they started to play with more confidence.

Ashford added to their score from a short corner which Ray Semabini struck and the ball stayed low and crept under the keeper.

The home side continued to play the better hockey and more goals followed. Sutton scored two more goals and Miller grabbed another two to secure his hat trick.

A hat trick from Richard Wicker completed the scoring for Ashford.

Old Williamsons struck with three goals in the last 15 minutes as the Ashford side took their foot off the gas.

Miller said: "The game was good preparation for the upcoming season which begins this week. Fitness is always an issue so it good to get a couple of friendly games under our belts so we are ready for the league matches."

On the season ahead he added: "We have had two consecutive promotions in the last two years so our main aim is to stay in this division."

"I would be extremely pleased to get another promotion but I think this year will be a very hard task as the standard of the teams we will be facing is better."

This week, the thirds bully off their league campaign against BBHC.

Town hoping to Lord it over rivals in cup clash

ASHFORD Town reserves begin their Kent Intermediate Cup campaign on Saturday with a trip to Lordswood.

The visitors will be in a confident mood of progressing after an unbeaten start to the season which included a 7-0 thrashing of Lordswood reserves a month ago.

The hosts have had an inconsistent start to the Kent League Premier season and sit mid-table after the opening five games.

Wilson closes in on trial bike championship glory

LYDD rider Scott Wilson has the chance to become British bike trial champion this weekend as he competes in the final round of the championship in Surrey.

The 17-year-old rider has just returned from claiming third place in the world championship in Japan.

Wilson said: "I am feeling confident about my chances. I would be very happy with myself if I could become British champion, especially as this is my first year in the highest class."

Sarah to set sail for China to retain Olympic crown

SAILOR and reigning Olympic gold medalist Sarah Ayton has been selected to represent Great Britain in the 2008 Beijing Olympics.

Ashford-born Ayton and her team-mates will be the sole representatives in the Yngling class in China next year, beating off competition from former crew team-mate, Shirley Robertson.

Ayton will be hoping to successfully defend her Olympic title after competing in the world championships in January next year.

Bowlers aim to impress county squad selectors

ASHFORD Indoor Bowls Centre is set for a weekend packed full of action.

On Sunday, a group of around 120 bowlers from the under-25 age group will be playing in various matches hoping to impress selectors for the Kent U25 bowling team.

In the afternoon, Ashford Indoor Bowls senior team will be playing a friendly against the Kent County side – about 50 players will be in action, with some of the county's best showcasing their skills.
